A MESSAGE FROM THE MAYOR

Season's Greetings to our wonderful community!

The festive season is well and truly in full swing with some great entertaining events held throughout our City. I'm sure many would have taken the opportunity to enjoy the Salisbury Christmas Parade in the City Centre. The Tyndale Community Carols were also a hit and the fireworks display was as beautiful as ever. The Mawson Lakes Community Carols returned this year and really brought the Christmas Spirit into the community. And remember to support the local business sector this Christmas and New Years and shop local!

We have much to look forward to in 2017 with the annual Salisbury Secret Garden aiming to attract thousands of visitors to the City Centre in February and March – keep an eye out for details. Don't forget to make your way to Carisbrooke

Park for the Australia Day celebrations and help us acknowledge our citizens and event of the year winners. I hope everyone is excited for the opening of the $5.3 million Bridgestone Park Redevelopment in 2017. As a result of Bridgestone gifting a parcel of land to the City of Salisbury for the purpose of community recreation and sport, a feasibility study and Master Plan were developed for the site, which is now identified as Bridgestone Reserve. In addition to developing the reserve as a recreation and sporting venue, Council has undertaken stormwater management works.

The Reserve's redevelopment will feature two sports fields, playground and fitness equipment, barbecue, picnic and toilet facilities with shelter, a new car park, footpaths and lighting.

Construction will also commence on the 500-square metre extension to the existing Library and Positive Ageing facility on Wilkinson Road, which will create a new Para Hills Community Hub providing residents access to library services, seniors services and a new modern community centre all in the one location.

And let's not forget the ongoing revitalisation of the Salisbury City Centre, the State and Federal governments' construction of the Northern Connector and the ongoing rollout of the Northern Economic Plan.

2017 is definitely going to be an exciting year and one that will help shape our City's future.

‘AUNTIE PHOEBE’ STILL INSPIRING SALISBURY STUDENTS

PHOEBE Wanganeen was a well known and highly respected Kaurna, Narungga and Barngarla Elder. Often referred to as ‘Auntie Phoebe’, she devoted herself to improving access to education for Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander people.

Phoebe Wanganeen Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander Scholarship recipient Olivia Brownsey

Phoebe played a leading role in establishing schools, and consulted on many boards and lobby groups in Adelaide’s Northern suburbs. She passed away in 2007 having made a positive difference to many lives. In 2008, to recognise this extraordinary woman’s contribution, the City of Salisbury established the Phoebe Wanganeen Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander Scholarship, which supports students living in the Salisbury area and studying at any South Australian university or TAFE.

Olivia Brownsey is a fourth year Bachelor of Law student at UniSA and a Scholarship recipient. She has found the Scholarship an invaluable support, putting funds towards the textbooks that cost her more than $1,500 a year, along with other study-related expenses. “This is my second year receiving the Scholarship and I’m very grateful because studying law is so expensive,” Olivia said.

Born and raised in Adelaide, Olivia’s father is of the Ngarrindjeri people. Like Phoebe Wanganeen before her, Olivia is committed to helping the Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander community once she graduates. “I’m really interested in criminal law and community legal education, so I’m hoping my studies and my work will translate into that career path,” she said. “I work part time at SA Native Title Services as a Law Clerk and it’s good to do work relevant to my law degree and my Aboriginal heritage.”

Olivia strongly encourages any Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander students who live in the Salisbury area to apply for the Scholarship. “I definitely think that eligible people should apply. You’ve got nothing to lose and scholarships can be a great help – you can just focus on your studies,” she said.

“It wasn’t hard to apply for. I filled in an application form, got two written references and then I had an interview with a panel. It was very laid back, more like a chat, and everyone on the panel was lovely,” Olivia said.

There are three Phoebe Wanganeen Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander Scholarships awarded every year – a three year scholarship for a university student and two 1-year scholarships for TAFE students. Students receive funds to support their studies to help them with related expenses. Applications for 2017 are now open.

If you, or someone you know, would like to find out more about the Phoebe Wanganeen Scholarship visit www.salisbury.sa.gov.au/phoebewanganeen

SUPER AUSTRALIA DAY IN SALISBURY

ONE of Salisbury’s largest events – the ‘Titanium Security’ Australia Day Family Picnic – will again take over Carisbrooke Park (opposite Old Spot Hotel on Main North Road) on 26 January.

The day kicks off with entertainment and a FREE community breakfast from 8am until 10am featuring a healthy option as well as traditional bacon and egg sandwiches.

This massive day of family-friendly entertainment includes a full stage, low cost rides for the kids, vehicle displays, a military museum gun firing, Monster Truck display and rides, face-painting, airbrush tattoos, and a huge FREE Kids Zone featuring a 10-tonne sandpit.

Formalities include the 9.30am formal flag raising to the National Anthem, the City of Salisbury Australia Day Awards and a citizenship ceremony.

“This year will see some new kids entertainment, reptile display, and a series of new bands and acts on the stage,” said Rotary Club of Salisbury President Christopher Moore. “Kids entertainment is a highlight of the event. The day should be an awesome drug and alcohol free event for everyone.”

The event runs from 8am until 3pm and a FREE shuttle bus is available from Salisbury Interchange on the hour (returning on the half hour). Australia Day merchandise will be available. The day is made possible by naming rights sponsor Titanium Security Australia, event partner the City of Salisbury, major sponsors Parafield Airport Limited, Plush Group – Old Spot Hotel, and Carisbrook Collision Repair Centre. Thanks also to the many other sponsors and in-kind supporters.

For more information closer to the event check out www.salisburyrotary.com.au or ‘Like’ us on Facebook at www.facebook.com/RCSalisbury.

The theme for 2017 is ‘Spotlight on Salisbury Services’. Grab a copy from Salisbury Council at 12 James Street, Salisbury or from your local recreation centre, library or community centre.

THIRSTY MERC

HEADLINING SECRET GARDEN

THIRSTY Merc, one of Australia’s finest live music acts, will headline Salisbury Secret Garden in February 2017.

Now in its fourth year, Salisbury Secret Garden will enliven and transform Salisbury City Centre with amazing music, performers from across the globe, affordable children’s activities, great local food and more as part of the Adelaide Fringe.

Kicking off on Friday 24 February, the 2017 Salisbury Secret Garden promises to be the best yet! With more than 100 free and ticketed performances scheduled across 10 days, patrons will be treated to a line-up featuring some of Australia’s best acts.

In addition to the FREE performances in Civic Square, the Pocket will offer regular $5 shows with jugglers, acrobats, comedy and more. If that wasn’t enough, Salisbury Institute will offer a great range of affordable ticketed shows including mind blowing magic, high quality music, musicals and stage theatre.

Making this one of the most accessible programs for the City of Salisbury, Parabanks Shopping Centre, Ingle Farm Shopping Centre and Hollywood Plaza will also be featuring sneak previews in the lead-up to Salisbury Secret Garden.

 For further details about any of the FREE or ticketed events, head to www.salisbury.sa.gov.au/ssg

WORDS Craig Treloar

MEET OUR 2016 LEGENDS

FOUR new legends of the Salisbury community were recognised during the 2016 City of Salisbury Legends Awards presentations at John Harvey Gallery on Wednesday 16 November.

Mayor Gillian Aldridge said the Legends Awards have a rich history in Salisbury. "Although this is just the second time the Legends Awards have been presented in their new format – the awards evolved from our prestigious Living Legends program to become an opportunity to recognise local champions from across all sectors of our community,"

"The Legends Awards are open to individuals, groups or businesses helping to build a proud, prosperous and thriving Salisbury," Mayor Aldridge said. "They are about acknowledging people that inspire others, and help make the City of Salisbury a wonderful place to live, work, play and study."

The 2016 Legends Awards categories are:

- LIVING LEGEND – An individual or group improving quality of life in the City of Salisbury through learning and education, volunteering, environmental sustainability or community safety.
- WORKING LEGEND – An individual or group that is enhancing the City of Salisbury by showcasing business excellence, or an individual or group improving the City of Salisbury through their business collaborations, events or innovation.

- ACTIVE LEGEND – An individual or group that has helped build pride and success in the City of Salisbury as a sportsperson, team, coach, trainer, umpire, official, artist, musician or the like.

A new category was introduced this year titled the Mrs Baynes and Mrs Roberts Outstanding Contribution Award – named after Edith Maud Potter Baynes and Mrs M E Roberts, who were the first female employees of the District Council of Salisbury back in 1941.

"Their achievements are reflective of the present day values of the City of Salisbury... and show someone exploring non-traditional roles or workplaces, embracing diversity, and taking advantage of opportunities that are presented," Mayor Aldridge said. "This new award is open to all City of Salisbury staff and selection is based on recognising someone who demonstrates outstanding contributions in the areas of work, community and play, in particular balancing these three activities successfully."

2016 LIVING LEGEND CHRISTOPHER MOORE

Christopher Moore is a financial expert – and in 2009 he started his own company called 'Life Financial Planning'. It is through this company that Christopher has provided pro-bono services for less fortunate residents struggling with their finances including through mentoring and personal support. This work saw him recognised by the Financial Planning Association of Australia with the Future 2 Community Service Award in 2015. Christopher established Salisbury's Container of Hope program, which sends shipping containers of donated and recycled goods to communities both overseas and in Australia that are in need. To date about 30 container loads have been distributed and there are more in the pipeline. Christopher has also been involved in a wide range of other community groups and organisations such as school councils, church, advisory boards, and he is currently the President of the Salisbury Rotary Club.

2016 WORKING LEGEND GEOFF THIEL

Geoff Thiel led the operations of R.M Williams for more than 20 years as Chief Operating Officer at the base at Salisbury South. Geoff is well known as a tireless worker and manager devoted to developing, coaching and mentoring. While manufacturing in Australia has been in decline over the past decade, Geoff has increased both capacity and staffing at R.M Williams with the workforce more than doubling under his watch. He has been a strong vocal advocate for better employment outcomes for families living the Northern Suburbs. Geoff played a leading role in the Dare To Lead program, which gave opportunities to disengaged indigenous students and hosted family days where local indigenous elders were able to visit the plant. He has also been on a number of local Boards, most notably Northern Economic Leaders, which brings business leaders together to discuss innovative ways of supporting and growing economic activity in northern Adelaide.

2016 ACTIVE LEGEND

HEART FOUNDATION WALK ORGANISERS - SALISBURY

The Salisbury Heart Foundation Walk Organisers provide opportunities for residents to live a healthy lifestyle by providing FREE and regular opportunities to get active and socialise.

Salisbury has more than 70km of fantastic trails and reserves such as the Little Para, Dry Creek and Cobbler Creek trails.

Having natural resources and infrastructure is one thing – but giving people the confidence and motivation to walk and explore is another.

That's why this group is so valuable. Heart Foundation Walking is Australia's only national network of free, community-based walking groups, led by volunteer walk organisers.

The first Heart Foundation Walking group started in Salisbury in 2005. There are now 11 groups, more than 250 registered walkers and 28,430 walks have been achieved.

These volunteer group leaders inspire. They are improving the lives of people in the Salisbury community and even get involved in major events such as the annual Salisbury Christmas Parade.

Absent: Ambika and Indira Dulal, Ursula Klok, Robyn Pettitt.

2016 MRS BAYNES AND MRS ROBERTS OUTSTANDING CONTRIBUTION AWARD - PATRICK TRIMBOLI

Pat is currently working as the Senior Traffic Engineer at the City of Salisbury but has held numerous positions within the traffic division. He has a strong commitment to the Salisbury community, not just as an employee of the City of Salisbury. He does talkback sessions on community radio and is actively involved in community groups, and has even sat as a service club's representative on Council's Sister City sub-committee. He has also been recognised for his work and efforts in relation to the Salisbury Christmas Parade. During his 20 years, Pat has built a high level of respect, is always the true gentleman and a highly deserved winner of this new award.

2016 WORKING LEGEND – MAYOR'S COMMENDATION CAROL BENNETT

Carol Bennett has been a long time business owner in Salisbury. She has been heavily involved with the Salisbury City Centre Business Association and was appointed Chair in 2014. When the Association lost its long-standing Executive Officer, Carol... who was due to retire from the Board... stepped up to provide stability and leadership for an additional 12 months, supporting the new committee and Chairperson. She is passionate about business in Salisbury and has been a tireless advocate for local traders.

A new face for an old friend.

Your neighbourhood airport is looking to the future with a bold, new identity.

We're a historic airfield with strong connections to the local community. We're a top-tier training airport in the Asia Pacific region. Plus, our reputation is fast-growing as a destination for retail, commercial and manufacturing business. Clearly, the future for Parafield Airport is one of great promise and opportunity. Our new identity is an indicator of the future that we're headed for. One that's stable, inclusive and progressive. For us, and the community at large.

Twelve25 Youth Enterprise Centre trainee Reece Shattell

GIVING YOUTH A GO

ARE you an employer in the northern suburbs? Have you thought about giving a student a head start in the world of work?

By offering a school-based traineeship you can give a motivated high school student the chance to learn in the workplace and earn at the same time.

Reece Shattell is currently a trainee at the City of Salisbury's Youth Enterprise Centre – Twelve25 – working one day a week. Amongst other things, his main project is a Swim Club program for kids newly arrived in Australia. At age 15 Reece packs more into a week than most adults. Along with his traineeship, he's studying a Certificate III in Community Services (he'll be finished by the time he's 16). He's developing leadership skills through a Certificate II in Sport and Recreation. He also goes to Salisbury East High one day a week – and he's only in Year 10.

"I saw some mates go down the wrong path, then I had a rough Year 8 and Year 9. I was starting to go down the wrong path too," Reece said. At the end of Year 9, Reece was invited to join a class for at risk students. "The teacher said things would get better, and they did. He inspired me, he really believes in me."

Now Reece is on track for a career in community service and youth justice. He wants to support young Aboriginal offenders and, in turn, inspire them to choose a different path.

The Twelve25 Youth Centre has had four Aboriginal school-based trainees. Mayor Gillian Aldridge welcomes the benefits the program brings to the Centre and to the trainees.

"We've chosen to work with Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander trainees because they can face more barriers to success," Mayor Aldridge said. "These students are determined, but like many of us they learn best by doing. School-based traineeships offer a bridge between school and work. Trainees gain valuable experience in the real world, you get a willing helper and it doesn't cost an arm and a leg."

Taking on a school-based trainee is not a financial drain. The State and Federal governments offer considerable support, with Twelve25's annual program costing about $2,000 that is more than recouped by every trainee.

For the City of Salisbury, the program is a huge success. Twelve25 leads by example and the business and social benefits have been measurable. "If you've got a business, please think about taking on a school-based trainee," Mayor Aldridge said. "Students in the program are matched to their field of interest, so effectively you're getting a highly motivated resource, and you're helping a young person to succeed."

Local employers seeking more information for students from all northern public schools can contact dedicated Salisbury based apprenticeship brokers on 0458 571436 or email brenton.roy@sa.gov.au. Brenton will guide you through the process and find a matching candidate.

GARDEN PRIDE HOME GROWN AND GREAT!

A popular event during this year's Aged to Perfection Month (October) was the exhibition Garden Pride – Home Grown and Great.

During Aged to Perfection Month each year the City of Salisbury features special events to acknowledge and celebrate older people. The exhibition showcased 11 locals who love to grow produce in their backyards or the local communal garden. It was a chance to share their passion for gardening. Writers from the Jack Young Centre Creative Writing Group interviewed each of the gardeners and captured their stories.

These stories, garden photographs, favourite recipes and garden tips were featured in the exhibition and reproduced in a publication titled 'Garden Pride – Home Grown and Great'.

Here is a brief excerpt from a story about Gina and Tony's garden: In a very small, well kept, uncrowded, suburban backyard of around 9 x 5 metres, an abundance of around 23 different varieties of vegetables, fruit and herbs are grown.

Gina and Tony's respect for nature, food growing and the environment is evident with every plant in their garden. Their Italian culture and respective childhoods have given them a solid appreciation of food gardening.

Seed collection and flexibility are key features of their garden with a pot of large, luscious eggplants growing from seeds collected in 1957. Each plant is portable and can be moved around the garden to increase or decrease sunlight, and herbs are planted in styrofoam boxes to insulate the roots. For Gina and Tony gardening is an inspiring experience, relaxing for your mind and good for your health.

Here are two of a number of tips featured in the Garden Pride - Home Grown and Great Exhibition and book:

- Mulch well, and water well and often at the early stage. Plants need to be well established before they can fend for themselves, especially in our dry summer months. Fertilise monthly particularly in warmer months. Prune at least yearly to maintain size and shape.
- Where space is limited, such as in small courtyard gardens, many fruit and vegetables can be planted in pots and moved around to take advantage of sun or shade during the year. Even a tiny balcony can provide food this way.

You are encouraged to take up gardening as it can provide for you many opportunities towards health and wellbeing as you get older. Gardening helps you to be active, keeps your mind sharp by learning and trying new things, gives you an opportunity to connect with others and best of all, to eat fresh food.

For those without a garden or wanting to know more about gardening, the City of Salisbury runs the Paralowie Communal Garden in association with the Paralowie R12 School. It is located at the corner of Waterloo Corner Road and Halba Cres, Paralowie. A range of workshops often run featuring special guests and experts in the field of horticulture.

RICH HISTORY RIGHT AT YOUR DOORSTEP

SUMMER is here and the school holidays are fast approaching. It's time to start thinking about filling the days with activities the whole family will get a kick out of. And the best place to start is in your own backyard.

"Did you know there are affordable and fascinating museums right here in the City of Salisbury? Our area is rich in history, industry and innovation," said Mayor Gillian Aldridge. "We are so proud to host and support many fascinating historical collections. They teach us about our past and give our present perspective and meaning."

You can discover our diverse local and South Australian history while checking out vintage fighter jets, taking a ride on an antique tram or a model train, or getting splashed by a functioning waterwheel. These hidden gems are so entertaining that the kids won't even realise they're learning.

Hangar 52, Anderson Drive, Parafield Airport

Let your inner fighter pilot loose. Sit behind the controls of a RAN Sea Venom Jet Fighter, check out jet aircraft engines, and browse unusual military aviation pieces.

A salvaged and rare F4U-1 Corsair jet is the Museum's main attraction. It is being painstakingly restored in the Restoration Hangar and you can get right up close to watch the magic taking place.

Open seven days from 10am to 4pm (except Good Friday and Christmas Day). The Restoration Hangar is open Wednesday to Friday. Visit www.classicjets.com.

National Military Vehicle Museum

10 Sturton Rd, Edinburgh

This Museum is unique. Many of the vehicles in the collection are privately owned, still registered and in running order. You might see them being used in Anzac Day marches, at the Clipsal 500 or even at the Salisbury Christmas Parade.

The collection ranges from horse-drawn equipment from WWI through to modern military vehicles. There is a particular focus on South Australia's military history – you'll even see military vehicles made by General Motors Holden and in the Islington Railway Workshops.

Open Sundays and public holidays from 10am to 4pm (except Good Friday and Christmas Day). Visit www.military-vehicle-museum.org.au.

Salisbury Water Wheel Museum

Pioneer Park on Commercial Road, Salisbury

In 1899, the owner of the Old Spot Inn contracted a local blacksmith to build a water wheel for his private dam. An ingenious system of buckets collected the water as the wheel spun.

The wheel was used until the 1940s and then left to deteriorate until the 1980s when it was restored and given a new home. In the Salisbury Water Wheel Museum the walls are covered with historical information and old photographs, and the wheel still functions!

Open the first and third Sunday of every month from 2pm to 4pm (except long weekends). Call (08) 8258 3016 for more information.

Penfield Model Engineers Society

Woomera Ave, Edinburgh (entry at the eastern end of the carpark)

Kids love the Model Engineers Society - they can climb aboard a miniature train and ride a railway that's nearly 2km long, weaving its way over a bridge and through a tunnel. They can ride all day if they want to!

The model garden railway is the biggest of its kind in South Australia with different trains chugging around the tracks in a very lifelike environment. There are even stabling yards and shunting areas.

Open on the last Sunday of every month (January to November) from 12noon to 4.30pm.

For other opening hours, visit www.pmes.org.au.

BIOBLITZ REVEALS RARE SPECIES AND NEW FACILITIES

ALMOST 700 people enjoyed more than 40 nature-related family-friendly activities during the BioBlitz and new facility grand opening at Cobbler Creek in October.

Cobbler Creek Recreation Park conserves some of Adelaide's rare woodland and grassland habitats, and is also one of Adelaide's popular mountain biking spots. With 17km of shared-use trails you can see River Red Gum lined creeks, woodlands filled with birds, and ridge-top views.

Around $1 million has been spent on new facilities to attract more visitors, particularly families with young children. Karna Elder Frank Wanganeen, SA Environment and Conservation Minister Ian Hunter and Mayor Gillian Aldridge all welcomed the crowd and launched new facilities at the park during the BioBlitz.

A BioBlitz involves a team of scientists and naturalists working with the public to discover and record the life of a park or reserve: everything from brightly-coloured beetles to seldom-seen bats, from cheeky possums to wonderful water-bugs. BioBlitz events include activities for all ages, experienced and novice naturalists, and anyone who wants to contribute and learn.

The team of scientists and naturalists recorded more than 100 species, including a Flinders Ranges Worm-lizard (a vulnerable native reptile species). Tawny Frogmouths, a Golden Pheasant and many other species were spotted and are still being recorded.

The BioBlitz is a team effort, brought to you by the Discovery Circle, a collaboration between the City of Salisbury, University of South Australia, the Government of South Australia, the City of Marion and the Adelaide and Mt Lofty Ranges Natural Resources Management Board.

The City of Salisbury has always supported outdoor activity for the physical and mental health of residents. We want to encourage everyone to get outside to relax, explore, exercise and socialise. The BioBlitz was a great opportunity to get outdoors and learn more about the natural environment at Cobbler Creek, and the plants and animals we share this space with.

FESTIVAL CELEBRATES CULTURE AND CLOSER CONNECTIONS

Salisbury Mayor Gillian Aldridge presenting a gift to Mobara Mayor Toyohiko Tanaka during the Welcome Function at John Harvey Gallery

ONE of the largest events on the City of Salisbury calendar took place on Sunday 8 October with more than 3,000 people attending Matsuri on Mobara, at Mobara Park in Mawson Lakes.

The festival was a celebration of Japanese culture with martial arts demonstrations, exhibits of calligraphy, origami and traditional kimono dress, a full stage program of performances featuring traditional music and dance, free children's activities and plenty of authentic Japanese cuisine.

This unique community festival is a celebration of Salisbury's relationship with its Sister City, Mobara in Japan and marks the anniversary of Mobara Park's opening in October 2004.

A beautiful centrepiece for Mawson Lakes featuring a traditional Japanese garden, sculptures and plants, the Park and festival recognise the close association through the Sister Cities program of the City of Salisbury and the City of Mobara.

"The 2016 Matsuri on Mobara was another wonderful day, celebrating cultural exchange through the arts, food and language," said Jarrod Hoard, one of this year's performing artists. "It was an honour and a delight to perform for our friends visiting from Mobara, Japan and our local community. I look forward to future opportunities to grow and develop multicultural friendships through the performing arts."

The day was attended by a delegation from Mobara, who arrived on Friday 28 October and departed on Monday 31 October. The delegation consisted of Mobara's Mayor Toyohiko Tanaka and other key Mobara City personnel. Aside from attending Matsuri on Mobara, the delegation attended a formal welcome and special ceremonial meeting in the council chambers and John Harvey Gallery, toured the City of Salisbury and various sites around Adelaide. The visit concluded with a farewell function at Mawson Lakes.

Mayor Gillian Aldridge said Salisbury Council signed the Sister City Agreement more than 15 years ago to "build a strong friendship between our two cities and celebrate our greater cultural understanding.... and it has". "Over the years our relationship with Mobara has given us a wonderful insight into the Japanese way of life, and our Council has used this in developing our philosophy of Salisbury being the place to live, work and play," Mayor Aldridge said.

"The Matsuri on Mobara Festival was created to provide our residents with the opportunity to experience Japanese culture and food... and to celebrate all that Japan has to offer."

CHRISTMAS SPIRIT ON DISPLAY

THE annual Salisbury Christmas Parade was a spectacular sight on Saturday 19 November with a massive crowd packing the City Centre for the popular event.

The community put on an inspiring, colourful and creative display with more than 80 floats taking part. There were many smiling children with their faces painted, taking advantage of the amusement rides, activities, and enjoying a chance to meet Santa.

Mayor Gillian Aldridge said the community's Christmas Spirit was on full display. "It was wonderful to see the community coming together for this great event," she said. "And I hope we can all continue to support each other and our local business community when doing our Christmas shopping.

"Salisbury has so much fresh produce on offer, fruit and vegetables, continental goods, seafood and much, much more. There's gifts such as jewellery, vouchers, video games, clothes, flowers and mobiles, plus a great range of cards, wrapping paper, bows and ribbons. There's something for everyone in the Salisbury City Centre and throughout our community."

The City of Salisbury would like to wish all of its residents a happy and healthy festive season.

The annual Salisbury Christmas Parade is presented by the Salisbury Business Association on behalf of the Salisbury City Centre Traders as their gift to the Salisbury community.

SALISBURY'S SARAH IS SUITING UP FOR THE CROWS

Salisbury Football Club's Sarah Allan has made history as one of the first players selected in the inaugural AFL Women's League after being drafted to the Adelaide Football Club at pick 122.

Sarah is from a strong footballing family being the daughter of former Central District's player Keith Allan, and her sisters are also keen players at Salisbury. Sarah has had a football in her hands as long as she can remember, and began participating in Auskick when she was five. Now at just 18 years of age, she will be fulfilling her dream of playing AFL.

"It was a dream I never thought possible, but kept working towards," said Sarah. "I am very honoured to play for the Adelaide Football Club and to be part of the inaugural National Women's League."

Sarah has been an integral part of the SANFL Talent Pathway for the past five years, representing the State in both the U18 AFL Youth Girls National Championships and the U16 State School Sport competition on a number of occasions where she was also awarded Player of the Tournament and selected in the All Australian Team.

Sarah joined the Salisbury Football Club in the 2014 season; Salisbury's first season in the SA Women's Football League, in order to get accustomed to senior women's football. She has since progressed to Division 1 and most recently won the team's Best & Fairest award. Salisbury Football Club has been one of the most successful clubs in the State in the female competition, already winning a number of premierships in their short existence.

"Sarah is a positive influence within the Salisbury Football Club both on and off the field, and our club is extremely fortunate to have someone like Sarah involved," said Emma Gibson, SANFL Female Football Coordinator and Salisbury Football Club representative. "She inspires her team mates, and now being drafted into the AFL she will continue to inspire all footballers at the club that look up to her as both a role model and friend."

Sarah encourages all young females to give football a go, now that there is a clear pathway for women in the sport whereby young players can now fulfil their dreams of becoming an AFL player. "Take advantage of the opportunity you have," said Sarah. "Work hard, have fun and you might be able to achieve whatever you put your mind to."

The inaugural women's AFL competition launches in February and March 2017 for a two month season, so keep your eye out for Sarah and all the other talented athletes in the competition now and into the future.

BLUEPRINT TOWARDS 2030

THE City of Salisbury has approved and is now implementing the City Plan 2030 – a blueprint for achieving our renewed vision for Salisbury – a flourishing City with opportunity for all.

The City Plan 2030 is the City of Salisbury's commitment to making a positive difference for those who live, work, play and study in our City. It outlines the long-term vision for the City over the next 15 years and identifies the strategies and critical actions required within the next five years to achieve this vision. It shapes the services provided by Council and provides strategic guidance to the entire community with regard to community priorities and our commitment to shaping our future.

"The City Plan 2030 was developed with a great deal of community input, and achieving our vision for the City requires a collective commitment and partnerships between Council and the community," said Mayor Gillian Aldridge.

Council's strategic directions and operations will be driven by four key directions:

- The Prosperous City: Driving economic growth in Salisbury as the place of choice for business to invest and grow in SA, creating more jobs, providing people with the skills and knowledge to connect to those jobs and sustainably increasing our population.

- The Sustainable City: A place where people actively experience and care for their natural environment, where green industries thrive and our urban and natural spaces support biodiversity and community wellbeing and are adaptive to future changes in climate.
- The Liveable City: A proud and welcoming community that celebrates its diversity, embraces change and where people are able to participate in community life. It is a City with interesting places and experiences.
- Enabling Excellence: A Council where people work because they can make a difference, an organisation that anticipates, understands and meets community needs with long-term thinking, planning and innovation, a Council with a positive attitude that continually improves.

To view the City Plan 2030, please visit www.salisbury.sa.gov.au/cityplan2030

Work has already begun on different projects, under the new City Plan 2030, for example:

THE PROSPEROUS CITY

Work has begun on the $1 billion Northern Connector, a multi-lane expressway that will form a critical component of Adelaide's north-south corridor. Funded by the Federal and State governments, it will link major transport routes and have major positive impacts for the northern Adelaide region. It will act as a catalyst for urban development and agribusiness projects and will create 480 new jobs per year, with completion of the project expected late 2019.

THE SUSTAINABLE CITY

The recently completed Adapting Northern Adelaide Regional Climate Adaptation Plan is providing a new approach towards our 2030 sustainability goals and beyond. The Plan was prepared in partnership with the City of Playford and sets out key priority actions towards adapting to changes in climate and capturing the economic development opportunities as we strive for more resilient communities and infrastructure. We are already updating our stormwater management plans to cater for future demands, including the impacts of climate change and providing greater focus on attracting, growing and supporting northern Adelaide's green industries.

THE LIVEABLE CITY

As part of the ongoing revitalisation of the Salisbury City Centre, Council has prepared an Urban Design Framework which identifies how and where the City Centre may be progressively redeveloped over the next 20 years. Hand in hand with this, Council is also proposing to update planning policy that applies to the area to better facilitate the mix of uses anticipated to be developed in the centre, including increased retail, commercial and residential development. These policy changes are expected to be approved by the Minister for Planning and in operation by the end of 2016. A draft master plan has been prepared to guide future recreation and residential investment and development at the Salisbury Oval Precinct. (see page 27)

ENABLING EXCELLENCE

A critical action within the City Plan is to be a business friendly Council that reforms processes and how we work with business in the City to improve economic and employment outcomes for our community. To help achieve this, Council is reviewing its policies and interactions with businesses to ensure that, wherever possible, these stimulate and support local business growth, employment creation and the attraction of new businesses to the local area. This is consistent with the clear message that we received during the engagement process for the City Plan – that the creation of more jobs and a greater diversity of economic activity is a priority for residents.

FESTIVE SEASON DOG SAFETY TIPS

THE festive season over Christmas and New Year's is a great time of year, but it is important to remember a few safety tips to keep your pets happy, healthy and stress-free.

These bits of advice can ensure that you (and your dog) have a fun (and safe) festive season.

Secure your yard: Take the time now to check your yard. Make sure fences are secure and gates are locked and there aren't any items that will allow your pet to climb up and over the fence. Also check on the condition of screen doors, window screens and the latches.

Fireworks: Fireworks are very frequent over the festive season (both legal and illegal) and whilst fireworks are fun and exciting to watch many dogs don't like them and they can be frightened to the point of jumping or climbing out of yards and crashing through screen doors. To keep your pet safe, please consider placing your dog(s) inside and in a safe space during the festive season and especially on Christmas Eve and New Year's Eve. Lowering blinds and closing curtains to remove visual stimulation can also assist.

Parties: Many of us enjoy the parties that occur over the festive season however the increased number of people in our neighbourhoods and the increased noise from parties and the music can also affect dogs and can frighten them enough to jump or climb out of yards and / or escape from homes. To keep your pet safe, please consider placing your dog(s) inside and in a safe space during the festive season when you are aware of parties and especially on Christmas Eve and New Year's Eve.

Doorbell Blues: Even the most social pets can become stressed out by a sudden influx of party goers. Know your dog's limitations and provide a safe, quiet space for them to retreat if you plan on entertaining over the festive season. Take care that your dogs don't try to make a break for the door or front gate while you're greeting friends and relatives.

ID Check: If you take all these precautions and your dog happens to get out then proper identification can help ensure your dog is quickly returned home. Make sure your dog is wearing a Dog Collar and the Council registration tag and an up to date ID tag with your contact details.

MANAGING PEST WEEDS

EVERY summer, the City of Salisbury carries out targeted inspections and treatment of Declared Plants (pest weeds) around the suburbs.

Declared plants are those regulated under the Natural Resources Management Act 2004. Plants are 'declared' due to the significant weed threat they present to our State's primary production industries, natural environments and public safety. All landowners have a legal responsibility to control declared plants.

The City of Salisbury currently implements both programmed and reactive weed control services aimed at controlling declared plants on Council property.

Council Officers, in partnership with the Adelaide & Mount Lofty Ranges Natural Resource Management Board, identify and inspect high risk properties not owned by Council within the City. Where Declared Plants are found, property owners are issued a Notice informing them of their obligations to control the plants along with supporting information to assist them in how to go about treating the problem. However it is not possible or practical for Council Officers to inspect all properties in the City and we need your assistance to help control these plants to provide a safe and enjoyable place to live.

Priorities for the Summer Period

There are two Declared Plants in particular that emerge in the summer period that can be a significant nuisance in residential areas. Caltrop and Khaki Weed emerge after summer rains and quickly grow and flower to produce a spiny burr. Both are prolific seeders and will spread quickly, however with appropriate treatment can be contained and eliminated, particularly if discovered early.

Have you got Declared Plants on your Property?

Declared Plants are sometimes seasonal and are not visible all year round. A range of helpful resources are available online that provide general information on the subject including pictures and methods to assist landowners identify and control Declared Plants. In particular the 'weed control handbook for Declared Plants in South Australia' is a great resource as is the free SA Weed Control app. More information on these resources can be found online at www.pir.sa.gov.au/biosecurity/weeds_and_pest_animals/weeds_in_sa

MORE ACCESS, MORE SUPPORT THROUGH NDIS

THE Australian Government's National Disability Insurance Scheme (NDIS) rolls out in Salisbury from 2017 – and it could offer significant and life-changing support for you or your carer.

The NDIS is a new way of providing support for people with disability, their families and carers. It will provide all Australians under the age of 65 living with permanent and significant disability with the reasonable and necessary supports they need to live an ordinary life. As an insurance scheme, the NDIS takes a lifetime approach, investing in people with disability early to improve their outcomes later in life.

The NDIS is currently available to South Australians up to the age of 14, but will be extended to those aged 15 to 17 from January 2017. From July 2017 it will be available to 18 to 64 year olds living in the City of Salisbury and nearby local government areas.

For some people who have lived their life with limited choice and opportunities, the achievement of an ordinary life is in itself an extraordinary outcome.

Do you want to learn more about the NDIS?

The City of Salisbury and Julia Farr Association (JFA) Purple Orange are hosting an education session for people who want to learn more about NDIS.

NDIS – Nuts and Bolts.

When: Wednesday 15 February 2017, 10am to 12noon

Where: John Harvey Gallery, 12 James St, Salisbury.

Cost: Free

The session will cover:

- What the NDIS is
- Who is eligible and how to apply
- How to plan for your planning meeting
- What supports the NDIS can fund

The upcoming changes to the NDIS were outlined at the Reaching for Inclusion Forum at John Harvey Gallery earlier this year.

- How the money stuff works
- How to choose providers and support workers

There will also be time for a Q&A session. To register please phone JFA Purple Orange on 8373 8333.

The community information forum on the NDIS on Tuesday 13 September was very well attended. The first of its kind in South Australia, the 'Reaching for Inclusion Forum: Understanding the NDIS Rollout' was designed to inform people on what the NDIS means for those with disability, their families, carers and the general community.

"The NDIS is giving people with intellectual, physical or other impairments more financial support and greater choice and control over their support options," said Mayor Gillian Aldridge. "This is a significant step in giving people their lives back, giving them a real chance to increase their participation in the general community and also reducing the reliance on carers."

HOW WILL THIS AFFECT THE CITY OF SALISBURY?

The NDIS will double Australian Government disability support in SA to $1.5 billion per year by 2019. By mid-2019 it is expected:

- There will be 9,400 NDIS participants in northern Adelaide (Cities of Salisbury, Playford, Tea Tree Gully and part of Port Adelaide-Enfield). The value of this support will be $430 million.
- 2,050 full time equivalent new jobs.
- More participation by people with disability in the general community and more free time for carers and families.
- Freeing up the disposable income of people with a disability and their families to spend in the local community instead of paying for disability support.

DEVELOPMENTS ON THE RISE

Development approvals throughout the City of Salisbury were valued at more than $217 million in 2015/16 – 18% higher than the five-year average.

Mayor Gillian Aldridge said she was proud to see Council’s reputation as a high performing organisation being reinforced with the average time taken to process a development application last financial year being 5.5 working days.

“The interest and investment in new development in the City is a positive sign,” Mayor Aldridge said. “We work hard to promote and grow investment by handling applications as quickly as we can, attracting new businesses and encouraging established businesses to reach their full potential.”

“This includes work such as our new Growth Action Plan, which provides a land use framework to identify opportunities for sustainable residential growth, the Draft Salisbury Oval Master Plan (see page 27) and the Salisbury City Centre Community Hub, both of which will play a major role in the ongoing Salisbury City Centre Revitalisation, as well as the ongoing support for the Polaris Business and Innovation Centre.”

2015/16 DEVELOPMENT SNAPSHOT

- The first Aldi supermarket in SA was built at Parafield Gardens followed by new stores at Mawson Lakes and Ingle Farm.
- Data storage facility and a wine bottling facility established in Edinburgh Parks
- Multi-million dollar upgrade of Ingham’s processing plant at Burton.
- Ellex Lasers and Codan joined the Technology Park Precinct.
- Emperor Living approved to establish an eight-storey building in Mawson Lakes, which will be our City’s tallest.

CONNECTING PEOPLE TO JOBS

NorthHub is an employment, skills and training centre established by Lendlease for connecting jobseekers with employment opportunities on the $1 billion Northern Connector project.

NorthHub was officially opened by Premier Jay Weatherill and the Minister for Transport and Infrastructure Stephen Mullighan in October. It is a one-stop shop for vocational education and training, and for service providers to meet on-site with industry partners, subcontractors and workers involved in the Northern Connector project.

Mayor Gillian Aldridge welcomed the State Government’s commitment to ensuring at least half of the project’s expected 480 jobs go to workers from the north. “We believe public infrastructure projects such as the Northern Connector should always have a strong focus on ensuring that local businesses and workers have an opportunity to benefit most,” Mayor Aldridge said. “This project will deliver a significant boost to the local economy and provide opportunities for the business community, Holden workers, underskilled jobseekers and those facing barriers to employment in the north.”

All jobs on the Northern Connector project with Lendlease and their Industry Partners will be made available through NorthHub. Some of the types of jobs that will be required over the life of the Northern Connector project include:

- Civil construction workers
- Formwork construction workers
- Plant operators
- Truck drivers
- Site supervisors
- Site and project engineers
- Safety professionals
- Administrative professionals
- Trainees & apprentices (construction vocations)

Early works have commenced on the ground, and as the work program increases, further opportunities will become available. By registering on NorthHub, you will receive updates from the Project Team about when jobs will become available.

 To register your interest with NorthHub visit www.northhub.sa.gov.au or call 1300 731 071 to speak to someone about employment opportunities.

Please note – To be considered for employment on the Northern Connector project, all applications and Expressions of Interest are required to be submitted online.

BREATHING NEW LIFE INTO THE SALISBURY OVAL PRECINCT

The City of Salisbury has an exciting vision to revitalise the Salisbury City Centre to attract more people to live, work, learn, play and invest in our City.

This includes breathing new life into the Salisbury Oval Precinct, which is home to a number of thriving sporting and community clubs, and located close to the heart of the City Centre.

The City of Salisbury has developed the Draft Salisbury Oval Master Plan, which has been prepared to guide development of the area as a safer, more attractive and vibrant place for sport, passive recreation and residential development. It will mean things to do for all ages, new outdoor parks and walking trails, improved access to the Salisbury City Centre and a place where residents and visitors will want to spend time.

Throughout November and early December Council has been seeking feedback on the Draft Master Plan, which identifies a range of proposed initiatives to help deliver on the vision for the Salisbury Oval area as a high quality integrated precinct that provides a complementary mix of amenities including a premier sporting facility, open space, community services and residential areas which are accessible and have strong links to the Salisbury City Centre and surrounds.

The Draft Master Plan was prepared based on four key themes, with a range of specific objectives and actions to support the realisation of the vision for the area:

- open space
- movement
- built form
- social and economic

Public consultation closed on 9 December 2016, and all feedback received will be used to inform any changes or adjustments to the Plan before it is presented to Council for a decision in February 2017. Once the master plan is endorsed the work can really begin.

Full details of the project can be viewed at www.salisbury.sa.gov.au/salisburyoval

The new playground on the corner of Park Tce and Southdown Tce is great. Love the sports area with the tennis, basketball, netball, cricket etc area also. Great use of council rates. I know a while ago there was a call out for suggestions for some reserve updates that were due. You should duplicate this for the Fairbanks reserve in Paralowie too. Naomi Graetz

My bag is packed, car loaded up, and I'm ready to head off tomorrow to the Salisbury Writers' Festival! Really looking forward to a weekend of networking, sharing and learning more myself from the lineup of wonderful speakers and panelists. Still time to register for my Blogging For Beginners workshop - I'm not toooo scary and promise I've not set that much work for you to do on a Sunday morning Truly, it will be a relaxed and informal time with plenty of room for sharing and discussion, and if nothing else Sunday is going to be cold so come where it's warm and hang out and get to know a little more about the world of blogging. Look forward to seeing you there! Kathy Parker - Writer
